

PROBLEM STATEMENT

A manager in a real estate company wants to find out the true value of a property depending on some relevant features pertaining to the property (building) such as crime_rate, resid_area(residential area), air_qual(air quality), room_num(number of rooms) and so on. A well-structured tabular data containing 19 columns and 506 rows has been gathered from different sources to help solve this problem.